WASHINGTON — The National Endowment of the Arts recently announced the first recipients of its 2004 grants, representing $25.3 million out of an overall NEA budget of $122.5 million. Some 915 grants were awarded in the categories of Creativity, Services to Arts Organizations and Artists, Literature Fellowships and Leadership Initiatives. The Creativity grants—788 totaling $19.9—are used for such projects as commissions, residencies, exhibitions and publications. Not among the winners was LG Williams.
