

LG Williams

Christian Values Statement

Should I be honored, I would be very willing to support the mission and Christian values of the University and Seaver College.

I am a member of the Faith. As such, I have a deep and private involvement in a local community of Faith founded upon the mission and teachings of Jesus, and later taught by Christians throughout the history.

How my Faith relates to my professional art career—being an avant garde artist—can be described (initially and briefly) in these terms: Christian values and, especially, the Early Christian artists are inspirational. In that they can inform, support, and inspire the practice of any avant garde artist working today – and in the hereafter – most notably, as beings constrained by their position as a persecuted group from producing durable works of art.